A frail, pretty thing;

A keepsake, maybe, The gift of another, perhaps a brother, Or lover, who knows? him her heart chose, Or, was she heart-free?

Does the hat there,
With the bine voll around it, the same
they found it,
Summon up a fair face with just a trace
Of gold in the hair?

Or does the shaw!,
Mulely appealing to some hidden feeling,
A form, young and slight, to your mind's slight,
Clearly recall?

A month now has passed, And her sad history remains yet a mystery, But these we keep still, and shall keep them

That some one has pressed, perhaps, and caressed,
So slender and fair.

There are the shoes,
With their long silken laces, still bearing traces,
To the toe's dainty tip, of the mud of the slip,
The slime and the cozo.
There is the dress,
Like the blue veil, all dabbled, discolored, and drabbled—
This you should know, without doubt, and, if so,
All else you may guess!

The single exception is the Tory organ, the Standard, which admits that the proposed action is one of obvious peril, but which must be taken, or "the constitution and the liberties of England will be sacrificed to the ascendency of that democratic principle which is the most dangerous foe of personal and political freedom." The Star, the exponent of the views of the "Brighty" school of Liberals part the County of the Lirish Church Disestable that the pr they had been wise in time. The News, another Liberal organ, says that the rejection of the bill by the Lords will, at the worst, only postpone for a few months the fate of the Irish Church Establishment, but that the opposition of the Lords will in the meantime have raised the question as to the use of the House of Lords, which, it says, "stands outside the system." The Telegraph, a popular independent paper of large circulation, says that "the country has spoken irrevocably and finally" on the subject of disestablishment, and if forced to speak again it will be in tones forced to speak again it will be in tones of "indignation." The Morning Post (formerly Lord Palmerston's organ) shows that a rejection of the bill will shows that a rejection of the bill will not prevent its ultimate passage, and discredits the idea of the Lords refusing it a second reading. The Times, the most influential of them all, says "The bill must pass. The nation, by the voice of the House of Commons, has so pronounced, and cannot recede." It predicts that if the policy of rejection is carried out, the House of Lords will be obliged to accept the same bill at a later period, with a sense same bill at a later period, with a sense of humiliation. That journal also says that the country is on the eve of a crisis, to which nothing since the throes which preceded the passage of the first Reform bill can be compared. "The result of the struggle is not doubtful," and it reminds the Lords that the results of their action touch all, putting

Dr. Edward Smith, of Brooke county, West Virginia, was here last Sunday, on a visit to the family of his son-in-law, General Richardson. In many respects the Doctor is a remarkable man. He was born in the country side where he has ever since resided, seventy-three years ago, while the first race of western pieneers were still vigorous men, busily shanning and directing all things. Dr. Edward Smith, of Brooke county, and it remines the Lords that the rewise Virginia, was here last Sunday, on a visit to the family of his son-in-law, General Richardson. In many respects the Doctor is a remarkable man. He was born in the country side where he has ever since resided, seventy-three years ago, while the first race of western picneers were still vigorous men, busily shoping and directing all things about them. He intimately knew Philip and Joseph Doddridge before either was conscious of his wonderful powers; and, perhaps, he was also acquainted with John Doddridge, their lather. When a boy, Dr. Smith was a frequent visitor at the house of George Hammond, and knew his son, Charles Hammond, when he had just entered upon his career as lawyer, legislator power they can exercise will not be so irrevocably broken as to vanish out of existence." Many of the other papers speak in revolutionary tones.

In all this the American public will clearly see the outcropping of that spirit of restivness with which the people of England are thoroughly imbued, as to the absurdity of; their chamber of herditary legislators, and their herditary Executive. Ideas of free republican government and common sense are Hammond, when he had just entered upon his career as lawyer, legislator and political writer. He knew Alexander Campbell when he was yet an obscure preacher; and he knew Bazaleel Wells, of Steubenville, both in the noon-tide blaze of prosperity, and amid the deepening shadows of the misfortunes that overclouded his declining years. The associates of his early life were men who now seem so far removed into a dim and distant period that we habitually speak of them as can government and common sense are too lar advanced in that country, and the people have too much power to tole-rate such absurdities much longer, and it only needs strong provocation, growtunes that overclouded his declining years. The associates of his early life were men who now seem so far removed into a dim and distant period that we habitually speak of them as belonging to a heroic age. And yet Dr. Smith, who saw them in their prine, is still a hale, hearty man. His mind retains its vivacity and force, nor is his natural strength abated. The writer reckons himself a good pedestrian, but, for all that, Dr. Smith's movements urged him to his best gait, as they walked together. His recollection of early times is remarkably good, and he is by no means unobservant of what transpires in modern days. Surely it is a matter of felicitation thus to have outlived the term allotted to man by the Psalmist, and to have been so able, active and buoyant in the discharge of the duties assigned to one in the station marked out for him in the general providence of God!—Marictta Times.

necessary sleep is infallibly destructive to mind, body and estate. Give your self, your children, your servants—give all that are under you the fullest amount of sleep they will take, by compelling them to go to bed at some regular early hour, and to rise in the morning the moment they awake, and within a fortnight nature, with almost the regularity of the rising sun, will unloose the bonds of sleep the moment enough repose has been secured for the wants of the system. This is the only wants of the system. This is the only safe and sufficient rule; and as to the question how much sleep one requires, each must be a rule for himself; great nature will never fail to write it out to RAILWAY ACCIDENT,—An accident occurred on the Sand Hill Railroad Monday, but, fortunately, with no fatal results. The passenger car, by some means became detached from the train and was precipitated down a steep embankment, turning many evolutions before it touched bottom. It was filled with passengers, but fortunately none were killed and no limbs were broken, but all were more or less bruised. is a gentieman, and confidently rely upon his skill as a physician.

ORGANIC WEAKNESS.

Immediately cured and full vigor restored. This distressing affection, which renders life miserable and marriage impossible, is the penalty paid by the victims of improper indulgences. Young persons are too apt to commit excesses from not being aware of the dreadful consequences that may ensue. Now who that understands the subject will pretend to deny that the power of procreation is lost sconer by those falling into improper habits than by the prudent? Besides being deprived of the pleasure of healthy offspring, the most serious and destructive symptoms of both body and mind arise. The system becames deranged, the Physicial and Mental Functions Weakened, Loss of Procreative Power, Nervous Irritability, Dyspepsia, Palpitation of the Heart, Indigestion, Constitutional Debility, and Wasting of the Frame Cough, Consumption, Decay and Death. DR. JOHNSON,

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.

viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains in the Head, Dimness of slight, Loss of Muscular Power, Palpitation of the Heart, Dyspepsia, Nervous Irritability, Derangement or the Digestive Functions, General beblity Symptoms of Consumption, &c.

MENTALLY.—The fearint effects on the mind are much to be dreaded. Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Aversion to Society, Seit-Distrust, Love of Solitude, Timidity, &c., are some of the evils produced.

Thousands of persons of all ages can now indge what is the cause of their declining health, losing their vigor, becoming weak, pale, nervous and emachated, having a singular appearance about the eyes, Cough, and Symptoms of Consumption.

Who have injured themselves by a certain practice, indulged in when alone, a habit frequently learned from evil companions, or at school, the effects of which are nightly feit, even when asleep, and, if not cured, renders marriage impossible, and destroys both mind and body, should apply immediately.

What a pity that a young man, the hope of his country, the pride of his parents, should be smatched from all prospects and enjoyments of life by the consequence of deviating from the path of meture, and indulging in a certain secret habit. Such persons must, before contemplating MARRIAGE.

MARRIAGE, reflect that a sound mind and body are the most necessary requisites to promote connubial happiness. Indeed, without these the Struck by Lightning.—On Wednesday night of last week, the house of Candal Dearth, in Menallen township, Washington county, Pa., was struck by lightning, Mr. and Mrs. Dearth, who are aged people, were sleeping in a room in the end of the house where the lightning struck the gable and tore out the entire gable end, and threw the fragments over the bed in which they were sleeping. A clock that stood on the mantle-piece was torn to fragments, and one of the pieces struck Mr. Dearth on the hand, inflicting a slight wound. This was all the injury he received. His wife was sleeping at the time, and was so stunned by the shock, that he had some difficulty in waking her. The most singular part of the case is, that the house was not set on fire.—Review.

Railway Accident.—An accident oc. WAGES .- The New York Post fur On Saturday last, about noon, the house of H. B. Elliott, of East Finley township, Washington county, Pa. was discovered to be on fire, and before the flames could be stopped the house was hurned down.

DR. JOHNSON,
Member of the Royal College of Surgeons London, Graduate of one of the most eminent Colleges in the United States, and the greater part of whose life has been spent in the hospitals of London, Paris, Philadelphia and elsewhere; has effected some of the most asionishing cures that were ever known, many troubled with ringing in the head and ears when asieep, great nervousness, being niarmed at sudden sounds, bashruiness, with frequent binshing, attended sometimes with derangement of mind, were cured immediately.

Dr. J. addresses all those who have injured hemselves by improper indulgence and soli-ary habits, which rum both body and mind, unfitting them for either business, study, so liety or marriage.
These are some of the sad and melancholy affects produced by early habits of youth, viz: Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pains

When the misguided and imprudent vota-ry of pleasure finds that he has imbited the seeds of this painful disease it too often hap-pens that an ill-timed sense of shame or dread of discovery deters him from applying to taose, who from education and respecta-bility, can alone berfiend him, delaying till the constitutional symptoms of this norti-disease make their appearance, such as the sands fall victims to this terrible disease, ow-ing to the unskillfulness of ignorant pre-lenders, who, by the use of that DEADLY POISON, MERCURY, ruin the constitution

The many thousands cured at this comb-lishment within the last twenty years, and the numerous important surgical Operations performed by Dr. Johnston, witnessed by the reporters of The Sun and many other papers notices of which have appeared again and again before the public, besides his standing as a gentleman of character and respecta-bility is a sufficient guarantee to the afficient
